THE month of May is nearly half over and no sign of a political battle has appeared on the horizon.

THE great resources of the Sulphur Spring valley are set forth on the third page of the PROSPECTOR by the Tombstone board of trade.

JUNES BETRUNE'S confirmation will prebably be ferthcoming next Tuesday, the day of each week when the senate sits in executive session.

OKLAHOMA is being extensively advertised as a cheap place to get a divorce, and a stampede is looked for in that direction from Etah as soon as it becomes a state.

AT last the Midwinter Fair has been declared a poor man's pudding. Hereafter a 25 cent admission fee will be charged on stated days. It was an Examiner victory, and shows what pegging away at a proposition will accomplish.

A MAN who cannot be trusted by his party will prove false to the people. Such men will not stand as much show in the next election as a snow ball in hades. Rather an bonest republican than a Benedict Arnold democrat.

THE PROSPECTOR was informed at the sheriff's office that Joe Curby is not the Tombstone correspondent o the 2 cent-a-liner. Mr. Curby deeply deplores the fact that any one should have suspected him of being so lacking in morality and manliness as to attack his fellow men over a mythical

MIKE DE YOUNG, who inspired the Midwinter Fair scheme and pushed it to a successful conclusion, should have the senatorship from his state if he desires it. He is a live issue and his opponents will find it out before the year is over. It would be base ingratitude to deny him a recognition which he has so ably earned.

t p Hill and Down Again.

The Philomathian society had their meeting last evening at the residence of Mrs. C. C. Warner. About forty persons were present.

The literary exercises were up to the standard and were very much appreciated by the members and the guests.

The hit of the evening was when one of the members solved the problem of how to manage to have a place for everything, and the solution was in the motte, "What is home without a baby?" and the place for everything was in the baby's mouth. Refreshments were served, and to say that this exercise was unappreciated would be a false statement, according to the epithet attached to this society as an appropriate name-"phil 'em up seciety," or words to that effect.

Before adjourning to the dining room, the name of each guest was written on a slip of paper and partners were drawn in this fashion. Wives and husbands were separated, and then was followed.

After midnight all said good bye and tumbled down hill toward home. At the next meeting arrawberries and cream are to be served, but the meeting is fer ladies only, on account of the price of strawberries. Of course the ladies will buy them. B.

Artesian Wells jat St. David.

Artesian well boring at St. David is progressing with variable results. The well on the Reed farm is down 300 feet but flowing water has not been struck yet, although it is 25 feet below the McRae well which flows 24,000 gallons per 24 hours. These two wells are three miles apart.

The new 6-inch well being put down with the new machine, is down about 80 teet, and work has been temporarily suspended until piping arrives from California.

The Reed well will be put down an additional fifty feet. The pitch of the formation under which the water lies may be such as to make it necessary to go 100 test deeper to gain the same
